

After installation, you have to activate the app, to do this, you have to open an account with a valid email address.

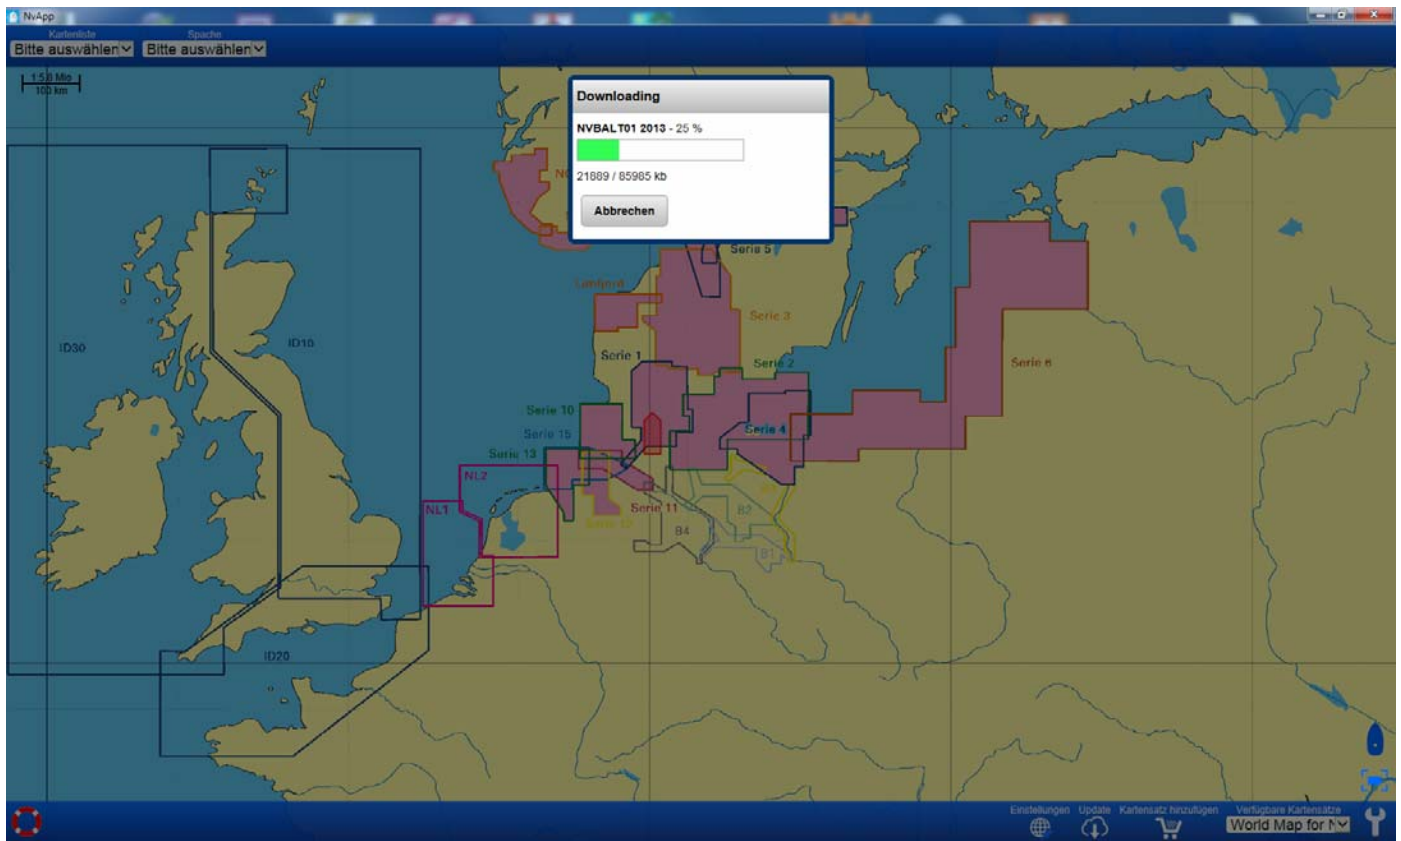

Log into your account and activate the app with the given email address.

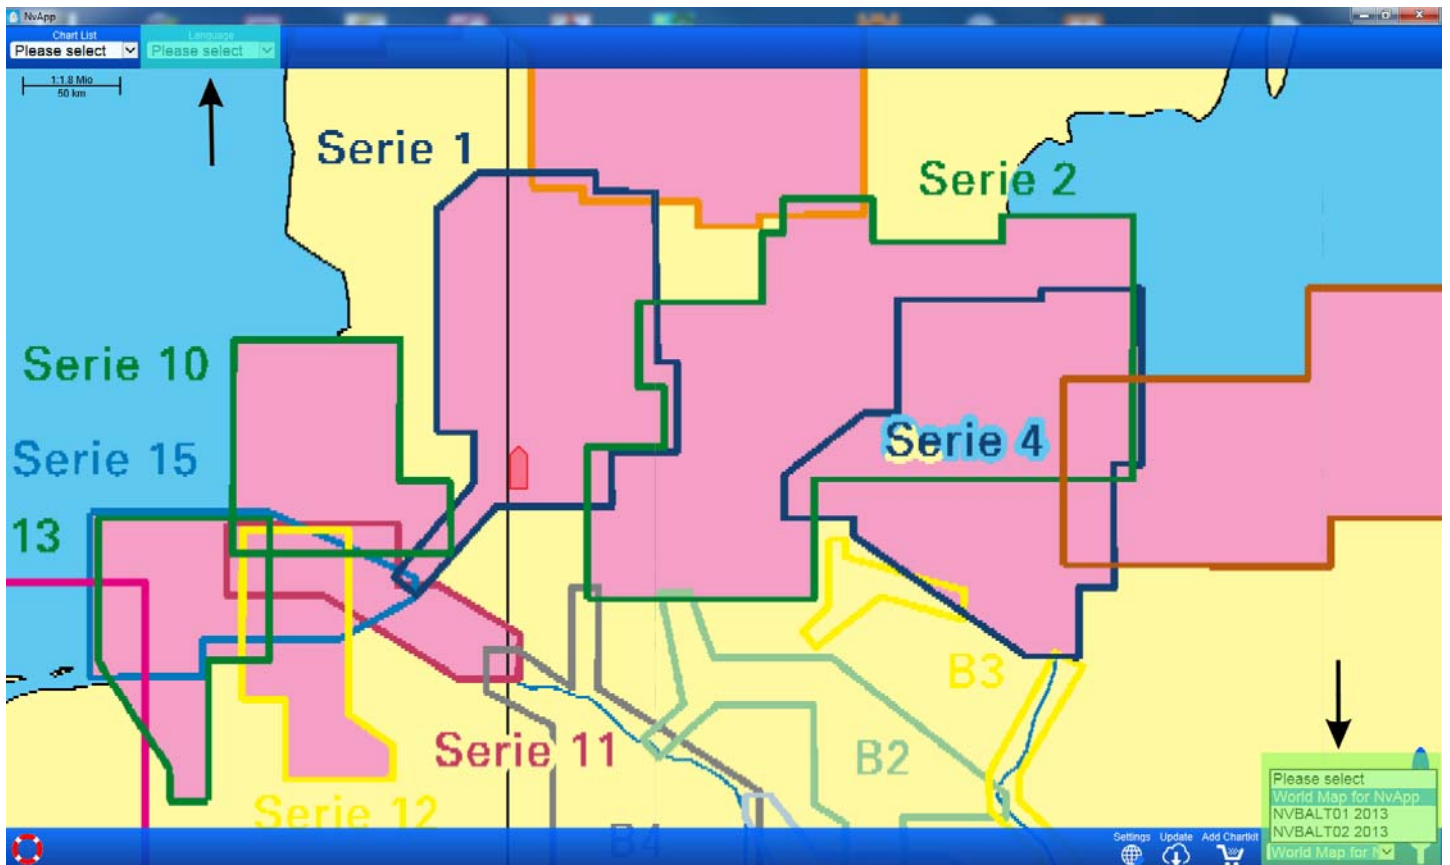

With the button "charts" you may choose between the options as follows:

With the button "add charts" you may activate your charts using the product-id or you can buy new charts. The button "update" lets you download and update your charts

After adding a set of charts, you can download it.

On the lower right choose the set of charts you want to display.
On the upper left choose the language.

Now you can use the charts with nvcharts app:

